HELD ON CHARGE OF SLAYING HIS SWEETHEART

DONALD ALLISON, CHICAGO, BEING HELD IN MILWAUKEE, WIS.

BODY OF SLAIN GIRL, URSULA LANG, 19, FOUND IN HOTEL

Milwaukee, Wis., June 14.—(U.P.)—Donald Allison, Chicago, was held here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his sweetheart, Miss Ursula Lang, 19.

A warrant charging Allison with murdering the girl was issued late on Friday by Dist. Attorney George A. Bowman, who said he did not believe all of the story Allison had told him, but that he did think the Chicagoan guilty of murder.

Miss Lang's body was found in an eighteenth floor of the Schroeder hotel last Sunday. Allison, who is married and has two children and who was known to have left Chicago on Saturday with the girl, became the object of a police hunt. He gave himself up Saturday.

Police said Allison confessed that he and Miss Lang agreed upon a suicide pact, that they covered themselves with a sheet and that they then let chloroform trickle slowly over their faces. He awoke hours later and found the girl dead in his arms.

PRINCESS HELENE REPORTED TO BE ILL

ILLNESS BROUGHT ON BY EX-CITEMENT ATTENDING CAROL'S RETURN

Bucharest, June 14.—(U.P.)—Princess Helene, divorced wife of King Carol of Roumania, was reported to be ill at her royal residence here today.

The illness, it was said, was brought on suddenly by the excitement occasioned by Carol's return to Roumania and attempts to reconcile the two, which had been intensified when Dowager Queen Marie returned from Oberammergau Thursday.

The princess was expected to attend a family reunion dinner at the royal palace last night, and the postponement of the dinner to an unnamed date was attributed to her illness.

It was reported without confirmation, that the princess' illness was causing serious anxiety in court circles.

Los Angeles, June 14.—(U.P.)—The charge that Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich had a "basement lover" caused authorities concerned with the trial of Otto Sanhuber, accused of the murder of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, to meet privately here today.

Prosecution attorneys, former Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and state's star witness, conferred throughout the morning in the district attorney's office.

SMOOT-HAWLEY BILL IN ROOMIER QUARTERS TODAY

MAJORITY OF OVER 75 VOTES IS EXPECTED TO PASS IT BEFORE NIGHTFALL

HOUSE UNDER STERN LEADERS ALLOWS BUT THREE HOURS' DEBATE

Washington, June 14.—(U.P.)—The Smoot-Hawley tariff bill raising duties on imports was passed finally by congress today.

Legislative action was completed when the house adopted the conference report on the measure which was approved yesterday by the senate.

The bill will be enrolled and corrected by congressional clerks Monday before it is sent to President Hoover, who is expected to sign it. It would become effective the day after being signed.

House action was preceded by an uninteresting debate of three hours, republicans defending the measure, as beneficial to agriculture and industry, while democrats attacked the bill and expressed the hope that President Hoover would veto it.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 14.—Squeezed through the senate by a margin of two votes, the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill came today into the roomier atmosphere of the house where a majority of more than 75 votes is expected to pass it before nightfall.

Whereas the senate required three weeks for final discussion of the bill, the house, under stern leaders, will be allowed but three hours for debate—an hour and a half each for opponents and supporters.

Monday the new measure raising the duties on imports about $107,000,000 or more a year, will be enrolled and dispatched to the White House. President Hoover is expected to request a report on it from Secretary of Treasury Mellon and perhaps from other cabinet members before he acts. Unofficial but convincing assurances have been given that he will sign it, probably before another Saturday.

A systematic effort to counteract senatorial and naval criticism of the London treaty is being made by the administration preliminary to senate consideration of the document.

A weary senate will begin Monday to debate the $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, hoping to finish this and other necessary legislation in time to adjourn by the end of next week.

A serious controversy over the rivers and harbors bill's provisions with relation to diversion of water from Lake Michigan may, however, slow up the measure to such an extent that adjournment will be delayed.

Senators from Great Lakes states are prepared to wage a bitter war on the committee's recommendation that the war department be given control of water diversion from the Great Lakes for the Illinois waterway.

An educational campaign to convince American citizens of the wisdom of temperance is planned as part of the supreme drive for prohibition enforcement to begin July 1 when Attorney General Mitchell assumes command of the federal dry army.

Congress has appropriated $50,000 for use in educating the public on the problems of law enforcement and the evils of liquor. For some months the treasury has used these funds to issue monographs on various aspects of prohibition. Previously a plan to place dry publicity in the schools was disapproved by President Hoover.

Both the Northfield headquarters company of the Minnesota National Guard and Company H of Hastings were on duty in Northfield today. The appropriation will enable the state to keep Company H on duty there over the week-end.

All roads to the city will be blocked tomorrow to prevent sight-seers and possible looters from roaming over the ruins of that city of 275 inhabitants and from blocking reconstruction work which was progressing rapidly.

NEW PULP MILL AT LONGVIEW, WASH.

CONSTRUCTION ANNOUNCED BY THE NORTHWEST PAPER COMPANY

Cloquet, Minn., June 14.—(U.P.)—Plans for construction of a new pulp mill at Longview, Wash., were announced today by H. C. Hornby, president of the Northwest Paper Co.

The announcement was made after St. Louis county commissioners refused to approve plans of the Weyerhaeuser Lumber Co., for extensive reforestation projects. The Northwest Paper Co. is controlled by the Weyerhaeuser interests.

Hornby said today that no details of the construction had been agreed upon yet and that building would start as soon as plans had been drawn up.

The Longview mill is part of an expansion program of the Northwest Paper Co. which includes a $1,500,000 addition to the Cloquet plant.

BERLIN'S CLAIM TO THIRD LARGEST CITY MET BY CHICAGO

Chicago, June 14.—(U.P.)—Berlin's claim to the title of the third largest city in the world is to be challenged by Chicago, a research expert of the Association of Commerce here and recently supervisor of the 1930 census for the Chicago area said today.

"Berlin's reported population of 4,024,000 is said to cover districts not within the city limits and if that is true, Chicago is entitled to include surrounding districts within its metropolitan area. Chicago would stand far ahead of Berlin, for we have in our area a population of 4,670,996."

RELIEF AND AID FOR THE STRICKEN AREA

THE STATE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MAKES APPROPRIATION FOR STORM SECTION

MONEY WILL BE USED FOR POLICING AND CLEANING UP RANDOLPH

By HILLIER KRIEGHEAUM (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—The state executive council today appropriated $2,000 for immediate use in relief and aid to the southern Minnesota storm-stricken communities.

The request was made by Lieut. Col. J. E. Nelson, assistant adjutant general of Minnesota, who visited the storm area near Randolph last night.

Randolph was in the Minnesota center of a storm that took five lives in the southern part of this state and central Wisconsin.

Red Cross chapters at Menominee, Wis.—where five persons were killed on a farm—Eau Claire, Red Wing, Austin and St. Paul were in communication with the national organization. Although the disaster scenes were outside of Ramsey county, the local Red Cross chapter wired Washington that it was giving the fullest aid to the storm area.

More complete estimates today showed that the property loss would undoubtedly reach $1,500,000, probably much more than that.

The money will be used for policing and cleaning up the town of Randolph, where fully three-quarters of the houses were damaged, at least four of them being swept off their cellars and left tangled masses of wood and smashed furniture.

Both the Northfield headquarters company of the Minnesota National Guard and Company H of Hastings were on duty in Northfield today. The appropriation will enable the state to keep Company H on duty there over the week-end.

All roads to the city will be blocked tomorrow to prevent sight-seers and possible looters from roaming over the ruins of that city of 275 inhabitants and from blocking reconstruction work which was progressing rapidly.

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA CENTRAL WISCONSIN VILLAGES ARE HIT

5 Persons Go to their Deaths at Menominee, Wis., House Hurlled On Their Heads

Big Twister Struck Three Times In Southern Minnesota, Then Darted Into Wisconsin

By HILLIER KRIEGHEAUM (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—National guardsmen today patrolled the storm-twisted ruins of southern Minnesota and central Wisconsin villages swept by tornadoes that left a toll of five dead and damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The funnel-shaped wind clouds zig-zagged through the little towns, flattening all buildings and hurling trees and telegraph poles to the ground.

Four persons went to their death at Menominee, Wis., when the wind hurled a house down around their heads crushing them beneath a mass of tangled wreckage. A flatcar was lifted from the rails at Randolph, Minn., and flung against a workman, killing him instantly.

Small children were missing throughout the storm area and searching parties started at dawn today to give aid to those injured in more remote parts of the country. Scores were injured.

The dead:

William Drape, 40, Randolph, section foreman for the Chicago, Great Western railroad.

Charles Wolbert, Menominee, Wis., farmer.

Mrs. Charles Wolbert, Menominee, Louis Haines, 25, Menominee.

Mrs. Carl Kaiser, 19, Menominee. Lorraine Roach, 15, Menominee.

Striking three times in southern Minnesota, the twister curled just south of St. Paul and darted into Wisconsin, hammering at the towns along the route between Ellsworth and Eau Claire.

Nearly 75 persons were brought to hospitals for treatment for injuries in the tornado.

Two companies of national guardsmen were on duty at the towns of Oslo, Sergeant and Randolph, Minn.

Like a mighty snake, the wind whipped in and out among the little villages, leaving some devastated and others nearby untouched. At Randolph the storm struck with full fury, cutting a swath two miles long and half a mile wide. Half the buildings in town today were only piles of debris where the owners half-heartedly sought to rescue a few belongings.

Drape was killed at Randolph when the wind suddenly lifted a flatcar and flung it at a group of workmen. Several were injured and Drape died instantly.

Circling the edge of St. Paul suburbs the tornado swung into Wisconsin.

At Menominee a party of four were eating dinner in their farm home as the storm struck. Before they could flee to the cellar for protection, a terrific windblast shook the house from its foundation, shattered the timbers and left only a crumpled mass of wreckage from which the bodies of Wolbert and his wife, Haines and Mrs. Kaiser were taken.

As the storm approached Ellsworth, the terrified residents saw dun-colored wind clouds suddenly rise and pass over their homes. Only a few barns on the outskirts of the town were damaged.

Eau Claire was badly damaged, but no loss of life was reported. Damage was estimated at $800,000. Streets were piled high with debris and five fires which broke out immediately after the storm struck added to the confusion. Twelve persons were injured there.

LaCrosse, Sparta and Whitehill also reported minor damage.

Randolph, Minn., June 14.—Twisted ruins of Randolph were protected today by national guardsmen after cyclonic winds left one dead, a score injured and a property loss of upwards of $300,000.

Fully three-quarters of the buildings of this town of 272 inhabitants were damaged materially. Four homes were blown from their foundations and left flattened piles of lumber and furniture. At least 20 more homes were damaged badly.

Half the business houses on the Main street were tangled ruins which were guarded by 100 national guardsmen from Northfield and Hastings.

The roof of the Commander Elevator Company was swept away by the winds which climaxed an afternoon of rain shortly after 5 P. M. The roof crashed on a nearby corn crib, scattering the corn over a large area.

The Chicago & Great Western railroad round house was a flat mass of tin ruins and overturned flat cars. Nearby two cellars told where two homes had been until late yesterday.

Walter Drape, 40, railroad section foreman, was killed when he was blown against a flying flat car, lifted from the tracks. Most of the persons who received serious injuries were members of the section gang.

Ernest Schroeppel, 40, another railroad worker, was in the Miller hospital with internal injuries. James Snell, 11, who was carried a full block by the wind, was in the Miller hospital with a fractured leg and possible internal injuries.

Carl Halzemer, 21, a railroad laborer, was in the community hospital at Farmington. He sustained injuries to his back, head and internal organs when he was swept 500 feet across railroad tracks by the cyclone. Hospital nurses doubted if he would recover. His mother, Mrs. Mary Helzemer, lives at Sand Point, Idaho.

Others who sustained injuries included:

William R. Keith, 56, restaurant owner, head bruises and cuts.

Wm. R. Keith, 51, scalp wounds. Eunice Keith, 12, hit in back by flying object.

Hank Peters, 42, section worker on railroad, head bruises.

Mathew Peters, 20, railroad worker, head injuries.

James Daugherty, 25, fisherman, cut eye and injured right elbow.

Christian Snell, 67, injuries on back of head.

Glenn F. Morrill, 35, telegraph operator, cuts and bruises on arms.

T. W. Wallace, 44, operator of Commander Elevator Company, head injuries and cuts about shoulders.

Throughout the night national guardsmen patrolled the streets and formed a cordon about the windowless Randolph State Bank, where $3,000 in cash was secreted in the vault. Like every other building in the town, most of the glass windows of the bank were smashed in by the pressure.

Not ten feet from the bank door was an overturned five-ton truck that had been parked some distance across and down the street from the bank building before the storm.

Across the street from the bank, a tangled mass of wood and gasoline pumps represented what had been the Brown and Ferguson garage and the Gus Hedke blacksmith shop.

Around the corner the second story flats of the G. R. McClintock garage rested on the smashed bodies of nine automobiles in the structure. The lower supporters had been swept away collapsing the second floor. One wall of the garage was lying nearby where the winds had tossed it.

The lumber yard across the tracks was a jumbled mass.

Huge freight cars were overturned like children's toys after playtime.

The Keith family, which had three members injured, and the Peters family lost their homes. The Keith restaurant was damaged on the second

DONALD ALLISON, CHICAGO, BEING HELD IN MILWAUKEE, WIS.

BODY OF SLAIN GIRL, URSULA LANG, 19, FOUND IN HOTEL

Milwaukee, Wis., June 14.—(U.P.)—Donald Allison, Chicago, was held here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his sweetheart, Miss Ursula Lang, 19.

A warrant charging Allison with murdering the girl was issued late on Friday by Dist. Attorney George A. Bowman, who said he did not believe all of the story Allison had told him, but that he did think the Chicagoan guilty of murder.

Miss Lang's body was found in an eighteenth floor of the Schroeder hotel last Sunday. Allison, who is married and has two children and who was known to have left Chicago on Saturday with the girl, became the object of a police hunt. He gave himself up Saturday.

Police said Allison confessed that he and Miss Lang agreed upon a suicide pact, that they covered themselves with a sheet and that they then let chloroform trickle slowly over their faces. He awoke hours later and found the girl dead in his arms.

PRINCESS HELENE REPORTED TO BE ILL

ILLNESS BROUGHT ON BY EX-CITIZEN ATTENDING CAROL'S RETURN

Bucharest, June 14.—(U.P.)—Princess Helene, divorced wife of King Carol of Roumania, was reported to be ill at her royal residence here today.

The illness, it was said, was brought on suddenly by the excitement occasioned by Carol's return to Roumania and attempts to reconcile the two, which had been intensified when Dowager Queen Marie returned from Oberammergau Thursday.

The princess was expected to attend a family reunion dinner at the royal palace last night, and the postponement of the dinner to an unnamed date was attributed to her illness.

It was reported without confirmation, that the princess' illness was causing serious anxiety in court circles.

CHARGE WOMAN HAD A 'BASEMENT LOVER'

Los Angeles, June 14.—(U.P.)—The charge that Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich had a "basement lover" caused authorities concerned with the trial of Otto Sanhuber, accused of the murder of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, to meet privately here today.

Prosecution attorneys, former Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and state's star witness, conferred throughout the morning in the district attorney's office.

MUSICIANS UNION TO CONTINUE ADVERTISING

Boston, June 14.—(U.P.)—The American Federation of Musicians will continue for the coming year an advertising campaign designed to inform the public of the superiority of "real" music to the mechanical brand, delegates voted at the final session of their annual convention here today.

SMOOT-HAWLEY BILL IN ROOMIER QUARTERS TODAY

MAJORITY OF OVER 75 VOTES IS EXPECTED TO PASS IT BEFORE NIGHTFALL

HOUSE UNDER STERN LEADERS ALLOWS BUT THREE HOURS' DEBATE

Washington, June 14.—(U.P.)—The Smoot-Hawley tariff bill raising duties on imports was passed finally by congress today.

Legislative action was completed when the house adopted the conference report on the measure which was approved yesterday by the senate.

The bill will be enrolled and corrected by congressional clerks Monday before it is sent to President Hoover, who is expected to sign it. It would become effective the day after being signed.

House action was preceded by an uninteresting debate of three hours, Republicans defending the measure as beneficial to agriculture and industry, while Democrats attacked the bill and expressed the hope that President Hoover would veto it.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 14.—Squeezed through the senate by a margin of two votes, the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill came today into the roomier atmosphere of the house where a majority of more than 75 votes is expected to pass it before nightfall.

Whereas the senate required three weeks for final discussion of the bill, the house, under stern leaders, will be allowed but three hours for debate—an hour and a half each for opponents and supporters.

Monday the new measure raising the duties on imports about $107,000,000 or more a year, will be enrolled and dispatched to the White House.

President Hoover is expected to request a report on it from Secretary of Treasury Mellon and perhaps from other cabinet members before he acts.

Unofficial but convincing assurances have been given that he will sign it, probably before another Saturday.

A systematic effort to counteract senatorial and naval criticism of the London treaty is being made by the administration preliminary to senate consideration of the document.

A weary senate will begin Monday to debate the $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, hoping to finish this and other necessary legislation in time to adjourn by the end of next week.

A serious controversy over the rivers and harbors bill, provisions with relation to diversion of water from Lake Michigan may, however, slow up the measure to such an extent that adjournment will be delayed.

Senators from Great Lakes states are prepared to wage a bitter war on the committee's recommendation that the war department be given control of water diversion from the Great Lakes for the Illinois waterway.

An educational campaign to convince American citizens of the wisdom of temperance is planned as part of the supreme drive for prohibition enforcement to begin July 1 when Attorney General Mitchell assumes command of the federal dry army.

Congress has appropriated $50,000 for use in educating the public on the problems of law enforcement and the evils of liquor. For some months the treasury has used these funds to issue monographs on various aspects of prohibition. Previously a plan to place dry publicity in the schools was disapproved by President Hoover.

NEW PULP MILL AT LONGVIEW, WASH.

CONSTRUCTION ANNOUNCED BY THE NORTHWEST PAPER COMPANY

Cloquet, Minn., June 14.—(U.P.)—Plans for construction of a new pulp mill at Longview, Wash., were announced today by H. C. Hornby, president of the Northwest Paper Co.

The announcement was made after St. Louis county commissioners refused to approve plans of the Weyerhaeuser Lumber Co. for extensive reforestation projects. The Northwest Paper Co. is controlled by the Weyerhaeuser interests.

Hornby said today that no details of the construction had been agreed upon yet and that building would start as soon as plans had been drawn up.

The Longview mill is part of an expansion program of the Northwest Paper Co. which includes a $1,500,000 addition to the Cloquet plant.

700 COAL MINERS OUT ON STRIKE

ONE OF WORST FOGS IN YEAR ON ATLANTIC

New York, June 14.—(U.P.)—One of the worst fogs of the year hung over the Atlantic coast from the Virginia Capes to Nantucket today, paralyzing shipping in the area.

Large ocean-going vessels were compelled either to lie at anchor until the thick haze cleared or to move with utmost caution until they were out of the danger area.

NARCOTIC DIVISION NABS LARGE DEALER

BERLIN'S CLAIM TO THIRD LARGEST CITY MET BY CHICAGO

Chicago, June 14.—(U.P.)—Berlin's claim to the title of the third largest city in the world is to be challenged by Chicago, a research expert of the Association of Commerce here and recently supervisor of the 1930 census for the Chicago area said today.

"Berlin's reported population of 4,024,000 is said to cover districts not within the city limits and if that is true, Chicago is entitled to include surrounding districts within its metropolitan area. Chicago would stand far ahead of Berlin, for we have in our area a population of 4,670,996."

RELIEF AND AID FOR THE STRICKEN AREA

THE STATE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MAKES APPROPRIATION FOR STORM SECTION

MONEY WILL BE USED FOR POLICING AND CLEANING UP RANDOLPH

By HILLIER KRIEGHBAUM (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—The state executive council today appropriated $2,000 for immediate use in relief and aid to the southern Minnesota storm-stricken communities.

The request was made by Lieut. Col. J. E. Nelson, assistant adjutant general of Minnesota, who visited the storm area near Randolph last night.

Randolph was in the Minnesota center of a storm that took five lives in the southern part of this state and central Wisconsin.

Red Cross chapters at Menominee, Wis.—where five persons were killed on a farm—Eau Claire, Red Wing, Austin and St. Paul were in communication with the national organization. Although the disaster scenes were outside of Ramsey county, the local Red Cross chapter wired Washington that it was giving the fullest aid to the storm area.

More complete estimates today showed that the property loss would undoubtedly reach $1,500,000, probably much more than that.

The money will be used for policing and cleaning up the town of Randolph, where fully three-quarters of the houses were damaged, at least four of them being swept off their cellars and left tangled masses of wood and smashed furniture.

Both the Northfield headquarters company of the Minnesota National Guard and Company H of Hastings were on duty in Northfield today. The appropriation will enable the state to keep Company H on duty there over the week-end.

All roads to the city will be blocked tomorrow to prevent sight-seers and possible looters from roaming over the ruins of that city of 275 inhabitants and from blocking reconstruction work which was progressing rapidly.

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA CENTRAL WISCONSIN VILLAGES ARE HIT

5 Persons Go to their Deaths at Menominee, Wis., House Hurlled On Their Heads

Big Twister Struck Three Times In Southern Minnesota, Then Darted Into Wisconsin

By HILLIER KRIEGHBAUM (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—National guardsmen today patrolled the storm-twisted ruins of southern Minnesota and central Wisconsin villages swept by tornadoes that left a toll of five dead and damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The funnel-shaped wind clouds zig-zagged through the little towns, flattening all buildings and hurling trees and telegraph poles to the ground.

Four persons went to their death at Menominee, Wis., when the wind hurled a house down around their heads crushing them beneath a mass of tangled wreckage. A flatcar was lifted from the rails at Randolph, Minn., and flung against a workman, killing him instantly.

Small children were missing throughout the storm area and searching parties started at dawn today to give aid to those injured in more remote parts of the country. Scores were injured.

The dead:

William Drape, 40, Randolph, section foreman for the Chicago, Great Western railroad.

Charles Wolbert, Menominee, Wis., farmer.

Mrs. Charles Wolbert, Menominee.

Louis Haines, 25, Menominee.

Mrs. Carl Kaiser, 19, Menominee.

Lorraine Roach, 15, Menominee.

Striking three times in southern Minnesota, the twister curled just south of St. Paul and darted into Wisconsin, hammering at the towns along the route between Ellsworth and Eau Claire.

Nearly 75 persons were brought to hospitals for treatment for injuries in the tornado.

Two companies of national guardsmen were on duty at the towns of Oslo, Sergeant and Randolph, Minn.

Like a mighty snake, the wind whipped in and out among the little villages, leaving some devastated and others nearly untouched. At Randolph the storm struck with full fury, cutting a swath two miles long and half a mile wide. Half the buildings in town today were only piles of debris where the owners had heartily sought to rescue a few belongings.

Drape was killed at Randolph when the wind suddenly lifted a flatcar and flung it at a group of workmen. Several were injured and Drape died instantly.

Circling the edge of St. Paul suburbs the tornado swung into Wisconsin.

At Menominee a party of four were eating dinner in their farm home as the storm struck. Before they could flee to the cellar for protection, a terrific windblast shook the house from its foundation, shattered the timbers and left only a crumpled mass of wreckage from which the bodies of Wolbert and his wife, Haines and Mrs. Kaiser were taken.

As the storm approached Ellsworth, the terrified residents saw dun-colored wind clouds suddenly rise and pass over their homes. Only a few barns on the outskirts of the town were damaged.

Eau Claire was badly damaged, but no loss of life was reported. Damage was estimated at $800,000. Streets were piled high with debris and five fires which broke out immediately after the storm struck added to the confusion. Twelve persons were injured there.

LaCrosse, Sparta and Whitehall also reported minor damage.

Randolph, Minn., June 14.—Twisted ruins of Randolph were protected today by national guardsmen after cyclonic winds left one dead, a score injured and a property loss of upwards of $300,000.

Fully three-quarters of the buildings of this town of 272 inhabitants were damaged materially. Four homes were blown from their foundations and left flattened piles of lumber and furniture. At least 20 more homes were damaged badly.

Half the business houses on the Main street were tangled ruins which were guarded by 100 national guardsmen from Northfield and Hastings.

The roof of the Commander Elevator Company was swept away by the winds which climaxed an afternoon of rain shortly after 5 P. M. The roof crashed on a nearby corn crib, scattering the corn over a large area.

The Chicago & Great Western railroad round house was a flat mass of tin ruins and overturned flat cars. Nearby two cellars told where two homes had been until late yesterday.

Walter Drape, 40, railroad section foreman, was killed when he was blown against a flying flat car, lifted from the tracks. Most of the persons who received serious injuries were members of the section gang.

Ernest Schroepfoester, 40, another railroad worker, was in the Miller hospital with internal injuries. James Snell, 11, who was carried a full block by the wind, was in the Miller hospital with a fractured leg and possible internal injuries.

Carl Halzemer, 21, a railroad laborer, was in the community hospital at Farmington. He sustained injuries to his back, head and internal organs when he was swept 500 feet across railroad tracks by the cyclone. Hospital nurses doubted if he would recover. His mother, Mrs. Mary Helzemer, lives at Sand Point, Idaho.

Others who sustained injuries included:

William R. Keith, 56, restaurant owner, head bruises and cuts.

Ernest W. Keith, 51, scalp wounds.

Elaine Keith, 12, hit in back by flying object.

Hank Peters, 42, section worker on railroad, head bruises.

Mathew Peters, 20, railroad worker, head injuries.

James Daugherty, 25, fisherman, cut eye and injured right elbow.

Christian Snell, 67, injuries on back of head.

Glenn F. Morrill, 35, telegraph operator, cuts and bruises on arms.

T. W. Wallace, 44, operator of Commander Elevator Company, head injuries and cuts about shoulders.

Throughout the night national guardsmen patrolled the streets and formed a cordon about the winery-less Randolph State Bank, where $3,000 in cash was secreted in the vault. Like every other building in the town, most of the glass windows of the bank were smashed in by the pressure.

Not ten feet from the bank door was an overturned five-ton truck that had been parked some distance across and down the street from the bank building before the storm.

Across the street from the bank, a tangled mass of wood and gasoline pumps represented what had been the Brown and Ferguson garage and the Gus Hedke blacksmith shop.

Around the corner the second story flats of the G. R. McClintock garage rested on the smashed bodies of nine automobiles in the structure. The lower supporters had been swept away collapsing the second floor. One wall of the garage was lying nearby where the winds had tossed it.

The lumber yard across the tracks was a jumbled mass.

Huge freight cars were overturned like children's toys after playtime.

The Keith family, which had three members injured, and the Peters family lost their homes. The Keith restaurant was damaged on the second

DAGGETT BROOK FARMERS PICNIC

Dairy Specialist Tells of Mail Order Cow Testing Plan at Dinner Today

The Daggett Brook Farm Bureau members and families enjoyed a dinner and program today at the Jelas Jensen farm.

Speakers included H. R. Searles dairy specialist at the University of Minnesota who outlined the mail order cream testing plan for the state and County Agent E. G. Roth who spoke concerning the testing of cows for tuberculosis under the so called area plan.

The state wide mail order testing was explained by Mr. Searles through the following paper:

Why needed:

Dairy Herd Improvement Associations are now furnishing records on about 26 per cent of the cows in Minnesota. We are not likely to get many more. Records build up individual cow production faster than any other one thing. Records will spot good and poor cows. A state wide mail order cow test association will provide for the man who does not join a regular Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

1. Because there isn't one in his community.

2. Who hasn't room for the tester or his horse.

3. Whose herd is low and hasn't reached the stage where he wants publicity.

4. Who has a small herd.

5. Who does not want to start at the specified time.

The cost:

One dollar twenty-five cents per month for 10 cows or less and 10 cents per month for each additional cow, collected monthly through the creamery, otherwise paid in advance.

How it works for member:

1. He signs a request to his creamery secretary to test and requesting his costs be deducted from his cream check.

2. He buys a milk scale from his creamery at cost.

3. Secretary notifies central office to send sample box to him.

4. When box arrives farmer weighs and samples milk night and morning and returns sample and milk weights to central laboratory by mail.

5. He receives back in a few days a production report on his herd for the month.

6. At end of year he receives a production report on the herd showing individual production and herd average.

7. Member starts any time he wants to and gets annual report when he has been in 12 months.

8. Member requests feed advice if he desires it. These requests will be answered by the Extension Division through the field service, no extra charge.

9. If there are 25 or more members in a community, feeding meetings will be held by the field man from time to time with the help of the county agent.

The creamery will:

1. Make the monthly deductions for the cost of testing and remit to the central office.

2. Appoint a herd improvement committee including the county agent.

3. Take an active interest in securing members and holding meetings.

4. Keep scales on hand to sell the members at cost.

The County Extension Service:

1. Will assist in approaching the cooperating creameries.

2. County agent will be a member of the creamery herd improvement committee.

3. Assist the field man with his meetings.

4. Direct the field service in the county.

The Extension Service will:

1. Assist the county agent in securing the cooperation of the creamery.

2. Assist the county agent in holding organization meetings.

3. Assist in and direct the field service.

CAMP FIRE GUARDIANS TO ATTEND CAMP

A national training course for Camp Fire guardians and those interested in becoming guardians will be held at Camp Tonadonah on Lake Minnawasha this coming week, June 16 to 21, inclusive. Miss Mildred Casey, Camp Fire executive of St. Paul, will assist the national staff in hand craft; Dr. H. E. Chamberlain, child guidance clinic of Minneapolis, in psychology and Dr. E. G. Cheney of the University of Minnesota, in nature lore.

The mornings will be spent in discussing the educational basis of Camp Fire. At the afternoon round table conferences, the particular methods and problems that arise in carrying out the program are to be taken up.

These courses are directed by members of the national staff who are assisted by local experts. Eight courses similar to the one to be given in Minneapolis will be offered in various parts of the United States.

DAGGETT BROOK FARMERS PICNIC

Dairy Specialist Tells of Mail Order Cow Testing Plan at Dinner Today

The Daggett Brook Farm Bureau members and families enjoyed a dinner and program today at the Jens Jensen farm.

Speakers included H. R. Searles, dairy specialist at the University of Minnesota who outlined the mail order cream testing plan for the state and County Agent E. G. Roth who spoke concerning the testing of cows for tuberculosis under the so called area plan.

The state wide mail order testing was explained by Mr. Searles through the following paper:

Why needed:

Dairy Herd Improvement Associations are now furnishing records on about 2.6 per cent of the cows in Minnesota. We are not likely to get many more. Records build up individual cow production faster than any other thing. Records will spot good and poor cows. A state wide mail order cow test association will provide for the man who does not join a regular Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

1. Because there isn't one in his community.

2. Who hasn't room for the tester or his horse.

3. Whose herd is low and hasn't reached the stage where he wants publicity.

4. Who has a small herd.

5. Who does not want to start at the specified time.

The cost:

One dollar twenty-five cents per month for 10 cows or less and 10 cents per month for each additional cow, collected monthly through the creamery, otherwise paid in advance.

How it works for member:

1. He signs a request to his creamery secretary to test and requesting his costs be deducted from his cream check.

2. He buys a milk scale from his creamery at cost.

3. Secretary notifies central office to send sample box to him.

4. When box arrives farmer weighs and samples milk night and morning and returns sample and milk weights to central laboratory by mail.

5. He receives back in a few days a production report on his herd for the month.

6. At end of year he receives a production report on the herd showing individual production and herd average.

7. Member starts any time he wants to and gets annual report when he has been in 12 months.

8. Member requests feed advice if he desires it. These requests will be answered by the Extension Division through the field service, no extra charge.

9. If there are 25 or more members in a community, feeding meetings will be held by the field man from time to time with the help of the county agent. The creamery will:

1. Make the monthly deductions for the cost of testing and remit to the central office.

2. Appoint a herd improvement committee including the county agent.

3. Take an active interest in securing members and holding meetings.

4. Keep scales on hand to sell the members at cost.

The County Extension Service:

1. Will assist in approaching the cooperating creameries.

2. County agent will be a member of the creamery herd improvement committee.

3. Assist the field man with his meetings.

4. Direct the field service in the county.

The Extension Service will:

1. Assist the county agent in securing the cooperation of the creamery.

2. Assist the county agent in holding organization meetings.

3. Assist in and direct the field service.

To Our Swedish Singers Friends

ALL Brainerd joins in welcoming our Swedish Singers friends. May their convention here be productive of much good and be a great success in the annals of the Northwestern Division of the American Union of Swedish Singers.

The ninth annual convention at Brainerd gives every assurance of success, even the sun is smiling on their efforts. Music, especially song, has a noble and exalted position in the life of man. Song came first as an expression of the good and beautiful in life. One finds the psalm singers of old conveying the most beautiful sentiments, the loftiest expressions.

The very soul of a nation is expressed in its folk songs. Let me write the songs of a nation, some writer has said, and one may wield the destiny of that country. The old folk songs have a warm and abiding place in the hearts of the people. They bring back wonderful memories, they stir noble ambitions, they lead to the better life. They commemorate great deeds and urge fine examples.

Music in general sets a helpful example. The good and pure in music endures forever and the best work of all nations becomes the heritage of the ages.

Singing societies are of value. They bring about appreciation of music and the culture becomes an essential part in the life of any nation. Singing in large groups inculcates obedience, a fine spirit of comradeship, a high sense of satisfaction in achievement. There can be no finer teamwork than that spirit of musicianship which animates a massed chorus and makes that chorus sing with that unity and phrasing, with that volume and that purpose as though a master hand directed the swell and flow of a great church organ.

The Swedish Glee club of Brainerd is convention host and they are to be congratulated on the results achieved. All citizens owe them and all who assisted them a great measure of thanks in making this convention the success it promises to be. May all visitors carry with them fond memories of Brainerd, countryside and lake area.

Comment About His Bravery

As was expected, Joe Gustafson, the brave grocer, is receiving a lot of comment throughout the state. The Little Falls Transcript, one of many exchanges, states that "Chicago authorities might send for the Brainerd grocer who caught the bandits in Brainerd the other night, and the Minneapolis druggist who always shoots it out with the bad men, and let them make a little cleaning in the Windy City on Lake Michigan. And the name 'Windy' was well applied to Chicago. All these promises by the higher-ups of that city to clean house are nothing but wind."

By the way, the suggestion of a Gustafson on the police force is not so far fetched, as the Brainerd grocer already has a cousin in Chicago police service.

Nice Courtesy on Part of the Mayor

It was a very nice and courteous thing for the mayor, Frank E. Little, to present $25 to Joe Gustafson who had so courageously faced bandits in Brainerd.

It is in great contrast to some communities who pay no attention to such acts and take such deeds as a matter of course.

Famous Biblical Well

Jacob's Well is supposed to be still in existence. It is 12½ miles east of Nablus, at the foot of Mount Gerizim. In 1838 it was found to be 105 feet deep, but it is now shallower and is often dry.

Minute Measurement

A decibel is an arbitrary unit used in measuring minute quantities of power on the specially engineered telephone circuits over which radio programs are transmitted from station to station.

AMERICAN FAIR PLAY ASSURES ISCHMELING RECOGNITION

TUNNEY-MULDOON TROPHY COMMITTEE IS STILL OBDURATE

MAY REFUSE TO ENGRAVE FIGHTER'S NAME ON BOXING TROPHY

BUT BOXER HOLDS TITLE IN OPINION OF THE PRESS AND THE FANS

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 14.—(U.P.)—American sportsmanship today assured Max Schmeling of recognition as world heavyweight champion. The Tunney-Muldoon trophy committee may refuse to add Schmeling's name to the list of champions engraved on its unofficial trophy and boxing commissions may renege on their promise to recognize the winner of the Sharkey-Schmeling bout as champion. But the German boxer already holds the title in the opinion of the press and the fans, whose contributions make the title a financial asset.

Schmeling's victory over Sharkey on a foul provided an unsatisfactory ending for what was hailed as the final elimination for the title, but a sense of fair play makes it impossible to deprive him of the laurels, even though his superiority over Sharkey is questioned.

Refusal to recognize Schmeling would be hailed as "another case of a foreigner being cheated" and this is expected to be a deciding factor when the New York State athletic commission meets Tuesday to rule on recognition of a champion.

William Muldoon, 35-year-old boxing commissioner and co-donor of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy, still feels the blow was fair, but photographers, motion pictures and medical testimony prove that Schmeling was hit low.

Muldoon sponsored the Scott-Sharkey-Schmeling elimination series, as a means to determine a champion, but he maintains now that Schmeling does not merit recognition. "A real champion—a true fighting man—would get up, even is disabled, or at least try to get up," he said. "The men should fight again in a bout that would go to a decision or produce a decisive victory."

Two of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy trustees have accepted the "iron duke's" edict and promised to vote against recognizing Schmeling. As a unanimous vote is necessary to award the trophy, Max's chances of securing the broken statute are slim.

Discussion of Schmeling's right to recognition is being featured largely as "ballyhoo" for a return match and as a means to distract attention from criticism of the New York athletic commission for its failure to protect the public from the possibility of the bout ending in a foul.

It was learned yesterday that the commission made a secret agreement for the Sharkey-Schmeling bout—allegedly at Sharkey's insistence—waiving its rules penalizing boxers for fouls be paid pro-rata for the number of rounds fought, but agreed that Sharkey and Schmeling should be paid their full purses regardless of how the bout ended.

Under the pay-by-round plan Sharkey's purse for the four rounds against Schmeling would have been $47,444 instead of the $177,917 which he will collect.

It also was pointed out that the commission rejected the promoter's request that the fighters wear white trunks, in order that fouls would be more easily discernible, and that two extra foul judges be named for the bout, providing one for each side of the ring.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 14.—The Kansas City Blues performed well in their first stab at night baseball and took a series opener from Indianapolis 4 to 2 last night. The game went 10 innings.

KING TUT AND MY SULLIVAN FIGHT TONIGHT

St. Paul, June 14.—(U.P.)—The on-again-off-again King Tut-My Sullivan fight will actually be staged tonight, if the rain does not interfere as it has for two successive nights.

Despite the fact that St. Paul's weather man was bribed with a pair of passes to the fight, he provided continuous showers Thursday when the fight was originally carded and again yesterday.

Both days the weather cleared as soon as the announcement of postponement was made late in the afternoon.

A clear blue sky and a bright sun greeted Jerk Doran, promoter, today and he was hoping for the best.

Columbus, O., June 14.—Columbus defeated St. Paul here yesterday in a free-hitting game, 9 to 7. Columbus came from behind to tie the score in the seventh and won on Purdy's home run.

Toledo, O., June 14.—Toledo handed a 13 to 7 lacing to Minneapolis here yesterday, clouting out the offerings of three Miller pitchers for a total of 18 hits.

Only games scheduled.

INDIANS HOLD .004 POINT LEAD OVER PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

WITH WASHINGTON AND NEW YORK IN EASY STRIKING DISTANCE

(By United Press)

Roger Peckinpaugh's Cleveland Indians have attained their goal—first place in the American League—but holding the lofty position promises to be a difficult task.

The Indians hold a .004 point lead over Philadelphia, with Washington and New York also within striking distance.

Cleveland's hopes of holding the lead are endangered by a schedule peculiar to which calls for the Indians to play 16 consecutive games against their three rivals for first place.

New York moved into Cleveland today for a 4-game series, after which the Indians must visit Philadelphia, Washington and New York in turn. Meanwhile the other three contenders will be playing most of their games against second division opponents.

The Indians took the lead yesterday, clinching a 7-game winning streak—during which they took three straight from Philadelphia and two in a row from Washington—by a 15 to 2 victory over the Athletics.

Washington kept pace with the Indians by defeating Chicago, 6 to 2. Ad Liska allowed the Sox only 4 hits.

Ralph Kress' single, scoring Blue in the 11th inning broke up a sensational pitching duel and gave St. Louis a 1 to 0 victory over Boston.

Sam Boyd's home run with two men on base in the sixth inning gave the New York Yankees a 10 to 9 victory over Detroit.

Gabby Hartnett hit two home runs in successive turns at bat in the 8th and 9th innings, driving in three runs and giving the Chicago Cubs a 7 to 5 triumph over Philadelphia.

Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, suffered his first defeat of the season, the Brooklyn Robins losing to Cincinnati, 8 to 1. The defeat cut the Robins' lead over Chicago to three and one-half games.

Bill Walker won his eighth game of the season, pitching the New York Giants to a 7 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh.

St. Louis knocked two pitchers from the box and took a 7-run lead in the first two innings but the Boston Braves came from behind to win, 9 to 8, in 11 innings.

WHOPPER OF A FISH STORY

Wm. McGarry Hooks and Loses a Scrappy Wall-Eyed Pike

TAKES HOOK, SINKER, LINE

George Kern Then Hooks the Same Fish, Plus McGarry's June-Bug Spinner

In the gathering dusk of Thursday evening George Kern, traveling auditor of disbursements, St. Paul, and William McGarry, chief material clerk, Brainerd shops, were fishing off Squaw Point on Gull lake when McGarry hooked a real one—a regular Gull lake "scrapper." After a ten-minute battle the fish was brought alongside the boat and Kern reached out to boost him in; as Kern gave a heave there was a rending snap while Kern, with a surprised look on his face, held aloft a dangling line—sans sinker, hook and fish.

After the shock of a losing battle and an exchange of mutual condolence (slightly smoke-tinged and curdled in spots) Kern started to reel in his line when he discovered that he too had connected with a big one. Another battle; this one crowned with victory as a whopping six-pound wall-eye lay floundering in the boat. And right here the mystery deepens, the dramatic enters, for as Kern reached to release his hook another surprised look—a regular Jack Sharkey fourth-round expression, spread over his face as he again waved aloft another empty line, this time his own, minus sinker and his No. 2 Prescott spinner, while firmly imbedded in the fish's mouth was McGarry's June-bug spinner attached to its piece of broken line. And then the argument started!

Whose fish? Occupants of a nearby boat being called in as arbiters, it was finally decided that Kern, inasmuch as he had, with his own line, brought the fish to gaff, must be declared the winner; while McGarry, all the way to the dock, maintained he had lost on a foul. Meanwhile, the mystery surrounding the exchange of hooks, or whatever happened under water, remains unsolved.

AMERICAN FAIR PLAY ASSURES SCHMELING RECOGNITION

TUNNEY-MULDOON TROPHY COMMITTEE IS STILL OBDURATE

MAY REFUSE TO ENGRAVE FIGHTER'S NAME ON BOXING TROPHY

BUT BOXER HOLDS TITLE IN OPINION OF THE PRESS AND THE FANS

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 14.—(U.P.)—American sportsmanship today assured Max Schmeling of recognition as world heavyweight champion.

The Tunney-Muldoon trophy committee may refuse to add Schmeling's name to the list of champions engraved on its unofficial trophy and boxing commissions may renege on their promise to recognize the winner of the Sharkey-Schmeling bout as champion.

But the German boxer already holds the title in the opinion of the press and the fans, whose contributions make the title a financial asset.

Schmeling's victory over Sharkey on a foul provided an unsatisfactory ending for what was ballyhooed as the final elimination for the title, but a sense of fair play makes it impossible to deprive him of the laurels, even though his superiority over Sharkey is questioned.

Refusal to recognize Schmeling would be hailed as "another case of a foreigner being cheated" and this is expected to be a deciding factor when the New York State athletic commission meets Tuesday to rule on recognition of a champion.

William Muldoon, 35-year-old boxing commissioner and co-donor of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy, still feels the blow was fair, but photographers, motion pictures and medical testimony prove that Schmeling was hit low.

Muldoon sponsored the Scott-Sharkey-Schmeling elimination series, as a means to determine a champion, but he maintains now that Schmeling does not merit recognition. "A real champion—a true fighting man—would get up, even is disabled, or at least try to get up," he said. "The men should fight again in a bout that would go to a decision or produce a decisive victory."

Two of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy trustees have accepted the "iron duke's" edict and promised to vote against recognizing Schmeling. As a unanimous vote is necessary to award the trophy, Max's chances of securing the broken statute are slim.

Discussion of Schmeling's right to recognition is being featured largely as "ballyhoo" for a return match and as a means to distract attention from criticism of the New York athletic commission for its failure to protect the public from the possibility of the bout ending in a foul.

It was learned yesterday that the commission made a secret agreement for the Sharkey-Schmeling bout—allegedly at Sharkey's insistence—waiving its rules penalizing boxers for fouls be paid pro-rata for the number of rounds fought, but agreed that Sharkey and Schmeling should be paid their full purses regardless of how the bout ended.

Under the pay-by-round plan Sharkey's purse for the four rounds against Schmeling would have been $47,444 instead of the $177,917 which he will collect.

It also was pointed out that the commission rejected the promoter's request that the fighters wear white trunks, in order that fouls would be more easily discernible, and that two extra foul judges be named for the bout, providing one for each side of the ring.

KING TUT AND MY SULLIVAN FIGHT TONIGHT

St. Paul, June 14.—(U.P.)—The on-again-off-again King Tut-My Sullivan fight will actually be staged tonight, if the rain does not interfere as it has for two successive nights.

Despite the fact that St. Paul's weather man was bribed with a pair of passes to the fight, he provided continuous showers Thursday when the fight was originally carded and again yesterday.

Both days the weather cleared as soon as the announcement of postponement was made late in the afternoon.

A clear blue sky and a bright sun greeted Jerk Doran, promoter, today and he was hoping for the best.

Columbus, O., June 14.—Columbus defeated St. Paul here yesterday in a free-hitting game, 9 to 7. Columbus came from behind to tie the score in the seventh and won on Purdy's home run.

Toledo, O., June 14.—Toledo handed a 13 to 7 lacing to Minneapolis here yesterday, clouting out the offerings of three Miller pitchers for a total of 18 hits.

13,000 BALLOTS FOR 54 VOTING PRECINCTS

All Details Completed for Primary
Election in County, Monday,
June 16

HEAVY VOTE PREDICTED

10,100 Ballots Cast at Presidential Election in November,
1928 in County

With each candidate boasting "get out the vote," Crow Wing county will cast a heavy vote at the primary election, Monday, June 16.

All details in connection with the election were completed today. All that remains now is the final urge for all voters to attend the polls.

County Auditor C. W. Mahlum has been supplied with 13,000 ballots. Only a small reserve of these has been kept on hand at the office. Ballots sent out to the 54 precincts in Crow Wing county comprised the following: Republican, 10,150; Democratic, 1,975;
Farmer-Labor, 5,975; Non Party, 12,500.

A total of 2,950 ballots have been sent to the precincts where voters will cast ballots for commissioners of the second and fourth districts.

Crow Wing county cast 10,100 votes
in the presidential election in November, 1928. An equally as large vote for the county is expected Monday because of the keen interest shown and the campaigns conducted by the candidates.

Only one change in the polling places in the city will take place this year, that being in the Fifth ward where the polling place has been changed from the gas office Broadway
to the Brainerd high school.

The list of candidates seeking office
for respective positions in the different parties follows, each voter to receive the ballot he or she designates:

Fanned by a strong wind, flames
destroyed the Wm. Treichler farm

The fire was first known by Mrs.

the house. Mr. Treichler was working in the fields and rushed to the home handicapped by lack of water and equipment.

The two story frame home and its contents was completely destroyed.
The fire is believed to have started
by sparks from the chimney.

13,000 BALLOTS FOR 54 VOTING PRECINCTS

All Details Completed for Primary
Election in County, Monday,
June 16

HEAVY VOTE PREDICTED

10,100 Ballots Cast at Presidential Election in November,
1928 in County

With each candidate boosting "get out the vote," Crow Wing county will cast a heavy vote at the primary election, Monday, June 16.

All details in connection with the election were completed today. All that remains now is the final urge for all voters to attend the polls.

County Auditor C. W. Mahlum has been supplied with 13,000 ballots. Only a small reserve of these has been kept on hand at the office. Ballots sent out to the 54 precincts in Crow Wing county comprised the following: Republican, 10,150; Democratic, 1,975;
Farmer-Labor, 5,975; Non Party, 12,500.

A total of 2,950 ballots have been sent to the precincts where voters will cast ballots for commissioners of the second and fourth districts.

Crow Wing county cast 10,100 votes
in the presidential election in November, 1928. An equally as large vote for the county is expected Monday because of the keen interest shown and the campaigns conducted by the candidates.

Only one change in the polling places in the city will take place this year, that being in the Fifth ward where the polling place has been changed from the gas office Broadway
to the Brainerd high school.

The list of candidates seeking office
for respective positions in the different parties follows, each voter to receive
the ballot he or she designates:

FLAMES DESTROY TREICHLER HOME

Farm House in Maple Grove Township Levelled; Nearby Buildings Saved

Fanned by a strong wind, flames
destroyed the Wm. Treichler farm home in Maple Grove township this morning, neighbors assisting in keeping the flames away from nearby buildings.

The fire was first known by Mrs.
Treichler when she heard the roof crumble in. She was doing ironing at the time, her two children playing in the house. Mr. Treichler was working in the fields and rushed to the home to assist neighbors who had congregated to fight the fire and keep it from reaching nearby buildings. They were handicapped by lack of water and equipment.

The two story frame home and its contents was completely destroyed.
The fire is believed to have started
by sparks from the chimney.

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER XLIX.

"NOTHING I can do—nothing I can do now—" Little Gypsy figure, twisting a handkerchief, pressing her hands together while tears welled from her eyes, ran down the spots of rouge grown suddenly glaring upon her white face. The monk tightened his grip on her shoulders, shook her a little. "Listen to me, Eve—ah, don't feel so down! Life does things to everybody. Where's the gallant little red-head who laughs at trouble? One thing you can do. Have a flirtation of your own. A violent flirtation. Sauce for the gander. How about this, Eve?"

"Why?" She stopped midway of a sob, looked at him with her eyes very wide, lashes starred by tears. "Why, I never thought of that. Never thought of that, Nory."

He laughed a bit grimly. "Most women would have thought of it long ago. Part of the game you were speaking of."

"It would serve Ken plenty fair enough. I suppose everybody thinks me a little fool. But who could I flirt with? I don't see—"

He laughed again, dropped his hands, made her a low bow. "Your humble servant, dryad. How would I do?"

"You?" She looked at him in amazement, a pale little smile touching her lips. "But, Nory, everybody knows what friends we've been. The only real friend I've got here, you are."

"And now they'll say we've been clever. That it's been going on a long time. The friend of the family—made to order, this flirtation."

Eve flushed, broke into a giggle, gave him both her hands. A rustle at the door—Fifi Devoe came in, peering about the dimness. When she made out the two at the far end of the room they seemed to be drawing apart too hurriedly. Fifi stared—noted Eve's embarrassment, Nory's careful casualness.

"Sorry," Fifi ventured. They laughed, moved away as if in search of greater privacy. "The little seed," Nory whispered. "Beginning to grow. Most affairs try to carry on big and raise no dust; we'll raise big dust with no carrying on. Well—"

"You think it's all right? I don't know—"

"Course it's all right. Leave it to your uncle Nory, dear child—"

"You lamb! Sweet, woolly lamb!"

Eve felt a little glow of exhilaration. Save her face at least, a flirtation with Nory. And it might bring Ken back. Who could say? Worth trying. Indeed it was worth trying!

She left the revelry and went to the room Lilas had given her. It connected by a bath with the room where Ken would sleep and Eve opened the doors between intending to speak to him when he came in. But she was drowsy; the little gleam of hopefulness Nory's plan had brought struck through her unhappiness in a restful way and she fell asleep almost at once and to awaken till the sun was up and the clock on her dresser pointed to nine.

She stole through the bath to Ken's room but the rumpled bed was empty and his clothes were gone. Nobody astir yet in the silent house. Had Ken set out for home in one of his temperamental moods?

Eve wondered about this but not with the despair she might have felt twenty-four hours earlier. She drew a bath, lay a long time in the warm water, dressed in a leisurely way.

It was just before she was ready to go downstairs that she glanced out the window, saw Ken and Lilas Allan coming up the drive. Their faces were red with cold and they leaned toward each other, laughing gaily, pausing to catch up the newly-fallen snow, toss these back and forth. They had been out for an early walk on the emerald-clad hills.

Eve turned from the window with her heart like lead, started for the dining room where breakfast was spread in English fashion on a long buffet and the crowd was wandering about with trays which they filled and carried to the table.

"Have a flirtation of your own—a violent flirtation."

Nory sprang up, snatched a tray which he insisted on filling for her. First placing this at a little table in the arch of a bowed window, he brought his own tray and they sat there apart from the others in a conspicuous intimacy while Eve's cheeks burned and Nory kept whispering, laughing, audacious things, encouraging her self-consciousness.

"Fifi's vibrating like a terrier's nose, dryad. And Elma's all a-gog. By night they'll be saying that Ken's demure little wife isn't so demure after all. Pretty soon they'll start planning stunts for the day and I hope you'll manage a nice hot blush when you say you've got a date."

"But I haven't a date, Nory."

"Yes, you have. A standing date from now on. We'll get out strong, he said, that he had to hold onto a tree to prevent himself from being blown away.

Many of the town's residents rushed to their cellars where they sought shelter from the storm. Thus some were undoubtedly saved from injury. A barn on the farm of Lawrence Beecker, two miles north of here, was destroyed by the winds. Considerable damage to crops was reported between here and Castle Rock, although no material losses were sustained to property.

LITTLE GIRL TOO SCARED TO CRY

Randolph, Minn., June 14.—Wilma

Keith, 9, today told the United Press she was "just too scared to cry" when a cyclone swept over here late yesterday, killing one man and injuring many others including her father, mother and older sister.

"I was in the kitchen when the wind started blowing like everything," Wilma said. "I tried to hold the back door shut. It wanted to blow open.

I shouted to Gerty Heren—she's our cook—to come. She was cooking. "She helped me and then the wind got too strong," Gerty yelled, "Go to the cellar!" Mother had just gone downstairs. Gerty went down. Then I was afraid to go down alone. I ran to the dining room. I didn't cry. I guess I was just too scared. Then it was all over.

"I was so dizzy I couldn't stand up. Pretty soon daddy (William R. Keith) came in with his night shirt on and carrying his clothes. His head was all bloody. He said the room upstairs collapsed while he was sleeping.

"Gee, I'm glad it's all over with and I hope it never happens again."

J. A. Anderson, cashier of the Randolph State Bank, said he was alone in the bank after balancing up the books for the day when the winds blew in a window.

"I started for the window to see what was wrong," he said, "Then two more windows blew in. I looked up and saw a huge truck in midair. I was heading for the cellar. And I didn't stop to see what happened to that truck."

The truck landed less than five feet from the bank building.

$300,000 DAMAGE AT EAU CLAIRE, WIS.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 14.—Zigzagging down from the northwest out of Minnesota, a cyclone last night injured six persons, none of them seriously, and did an estimated $300,000 damage.

The injured persons were taken to the Lutheran hospital where it was said all would recover.

Greatest damage was done to the quarter block Pioneer Furniture Company, which was unroofed and the top floor damaged by the winds. The smoke-stack of the Bells saw mill was blown down and roofs at the saw mill's plant were damaged.

All electric lights were out of commission until shortly before midnight. All reserve police were called out to protect property and citizens in the darkness. Windows of the Security State Bank were blown in.

In the ninth ward residential section the greatest damage to homes was done. Many trees were uprooted, some of them falling on houses.

Red Wing, Minn., June 14.—Before leaping into Wisconsin the twister last night took a final flick at four Minnesota farms a few miles north of Red Wing and hurled down all but one building on the farms and uprooted a large fruit orchard.

Of 75 fruit trees on the John Munson farm but two were left standing after the storm. The house, barn and other buildings were destroyed. A cupola from the Munson barn cut 20 telephone wires.

Although many chickens and hogs were killed on the Frank Lind farm just across the road, the twister lifted a large barn from over the heads of four horses and left the animals untouched.

All buildings except the house were shaken apart on the farm of Mrs. William Chelberg. Another fruit orchard on the farm of Ed Winz was uprooted.
